Homecoming 1984...

Special Day week was the beginning for the homecoming preparations. It was followed by the afternoon pep rally and parade.

A homecoming king has not always been chosen. This required both male and female escorts for the homecoming court. In the past, the male escorts have been football players, whereas this year, they were chosen. Also, this year, the homecoming dance was held the same night as the game. In the past, the dance was the next night. Dress was casual this year, rather than semi-formal, and records were played, instead of live entertainment.

The Saber varsity football season began its regular two-a-day practices in mid-August until school began. Most of the boys reported in fairly good shape, therefore some high goals were set early in the season. Overall, our mighty Sabers had a winning season and tied for second in the Big Bend Conference. The biggest disappointment was losing the last game to Western Dubuque. The final record was 6 wins and 3 losses.

The season ended with many letter winners and some key all-conference picks. Scott Pinter and Kurt Cresthwaite received first team offensive line. Tom Maher — first team lineman; Scott Meland — first team back; Tony Cox — first team kicker, second team QB, and honorable mention punter; Jeff Poell, Larry Bloomer, Scott Grau, and Bob Kastler — second team linemen; and Dave Burke — second team flanker.

The Saber sophomore football team was not blessed with a large number of players this year, but they were definitely determined to play some tough football. The coaches felt that as the season progressed, the team showed "vast" improvement. Even though they lost some close games, the most points they ever gave up was 21. They finished the season with 3 wins, 3 losses, and 2 ties.

The Saber varsity volleyball team had a lot of talent this year. Coached by Pam Duncan and assistants Ann Burke and Greg Weller, the team finished the season with a record of 14-15-2. The two captains were Colleen Burke and Sheila McGarry.

Three Sabers were selected to all-conference teams. Sheila McGarry and Colleen Burke were both voted to first team.

Michelle Burke was voted to the second team. Colleen and Sheila were also voted on in the IGHS AU, where Colleen received fifth team and Sheila honorable mention. Colleen Burke and her sister were leaders in ace spikes and ace sets for the team.

The boys' varsity squad finished second at several tough Invitationals. Although there were only five girls on the girls' varsity, they finished close to the top in a couple of tournaments.

The boys and girls had a successful day at a very chilly Muscatine Invitational coming home with two first place trophies. Members had to withstand many extremes in temperatures and a lot of practices were scheduled in the early morning hours to escape the high temperatures.

Late in the season the runners found their daily route was scattered with several different fruit trees, which made practices a lot more enjoyable. Although it is hard to eat an apple while you are running.

Boys Basketball Have 13-7 Record . . .

The Varsity Boys Basketball team had a very respectable season posting a 13-7 overall record. The year was full of ups and downs for the experienced Sabers. They lost the first two games of the season, but came back to win eight in a row, highlighted by a victory over second-ranked Maquoketa. Our boys fell short of a State-berth with a defeat to Bettendorf in districts.

Brian Bowman was named first-team All-Conference, with Dave Burke and Dan Feddersen receiving second team honors. Neal Green and Tony Cox received honorable mention.

In the words of Coach Padgett, "I was very pleased with the season. We accomplished a lot of things." He also felt that the key to the success was defense and senior leadership. "We had an outstanding group of seniors, and I found something very rare. The kids are good athletes and good people. I enjoyed the season very much."

Girls Finish Second in Tough Big Bend

The 1983-84 girls basketball team was the best ever. The girls finished second in the very tough Big Bend Conference with a 9-3 record. The Sabers set fifteen school records including the best win-loss record of 13-6. Other team records include: most points in a game (88), best field goal percentage for a season (50.7%), best field goal percentage in a game (63.9%), and best offensive average per game (64.9 points).

Individual honors are held by: Colleen Burke — most points in a career (1501), best free throw percentage for a season (70%), and most rebounds in a career by a forward (168). Sheila McGarry — most points in one game (46), best field percentage for a season (56%), and best field goal percentage for one game (78.6%). Chris Hodgett — most rebounds in a game by a guard (16) and the most steals in a season by a guard (56). Kendra Mosier — most assists in a season (105). Highlights of the season included beating top-ranked Pleasant Valley and Clinton for the first time ever.

All Big Bend Conference selections included Colleen Burke and Sheila McGarry — first team, Chris Hodgett — second team, and Kendra Mosier and Mary Nugent — honorable mention. Sheila McGarry was selected for second team, Colleen Burke for fourth team, and Chris Hodgett special mention on the All-Eastern Iowa team. McGarry also received honorable mention on the All State team.

Letterwinners included seniors Colleen Burke, Judy Grell, Chris Hodgett, Sheila McGarry, Kendra Mosier, Mary Nugent, Cindy Palzkill, and Julie Trimble, along with juniors Kim Alkire and Michelle Holst. Central will lose eight seniors to graduation.

Sophomore Basketball

A Very Successful Year

The sophomore basketball team, improving over last year's record, compiled a final record of 11 wins and 6 losses. In conference play, the Sabers finished in second place with a record of 8-4.

Statistics for the season were excellent, beginning with an average of 55 points per game, a 43% field goal average, 937 total points and 428 total rebounds. Some top scorers were Dave Schnurr, Dave Green, Al Thomson, Mark Ahlers, and John Howes. The leading rebounders were Dave Green and Mark Ahlers. John Howes was credited with 35 recoveries.

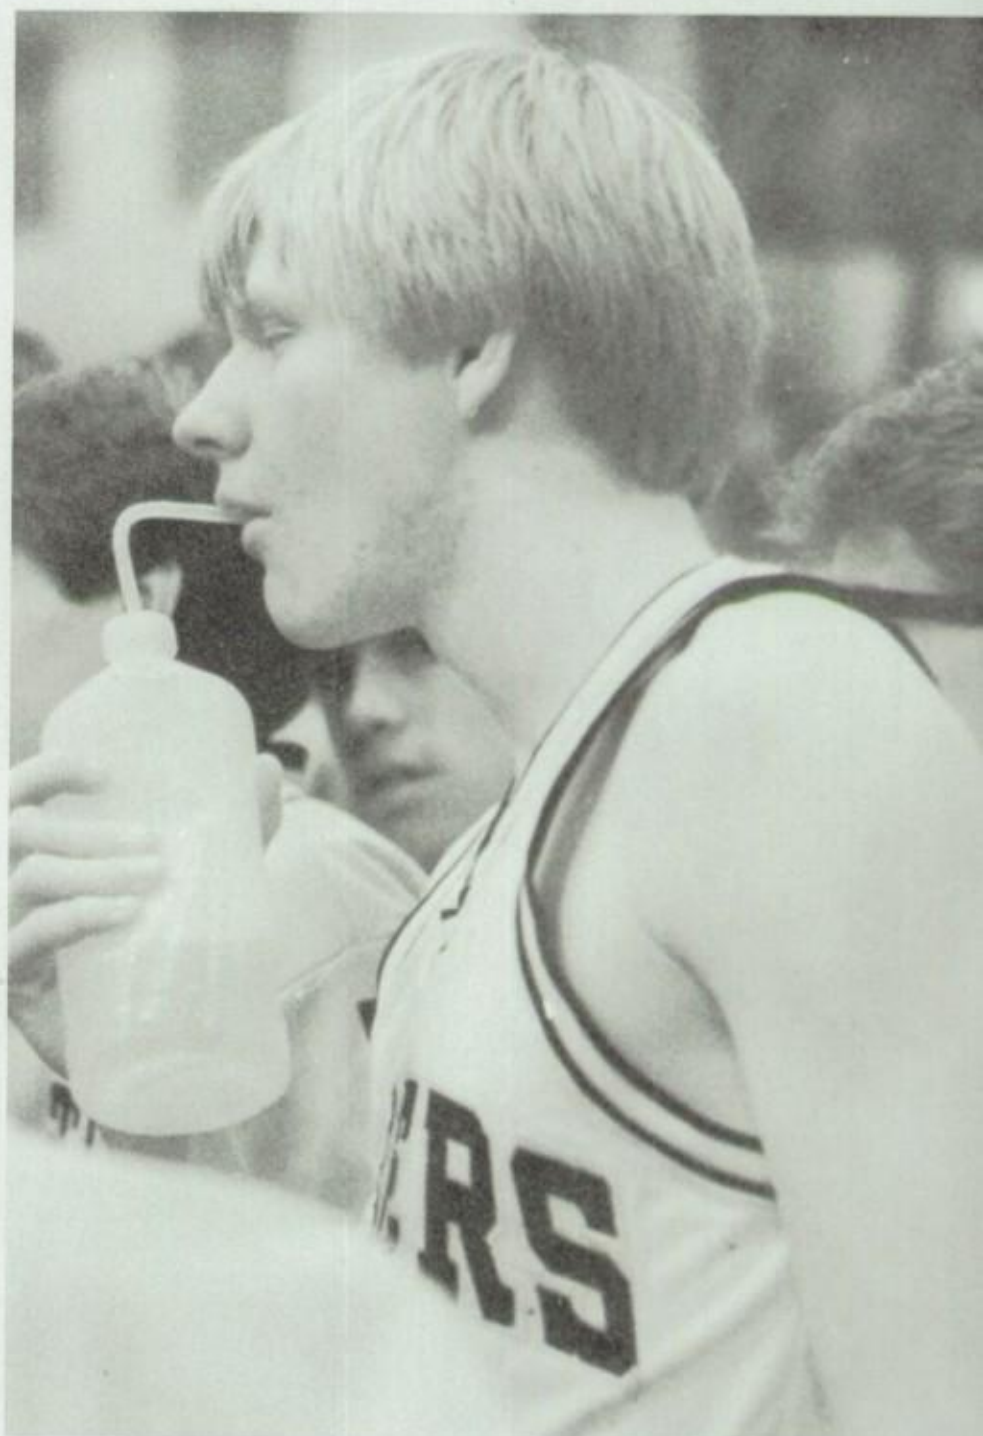

The major highlights of the season were a double OT game against Cascade and a final second shot in a victory over Maquoketa.

With hard work, the sophomore team should add depth and experience to the varsity team next year.

Sophomore Girls

The 1983-84 Saber fresh-soph girls basketball team ended the season with a record of 3-15 and a conference record of 3-9. Although our records weren't all that great, we improved a lot over the season.

This year was the first year the freshmen and sophomore girls have been combined into one team. It was a new experience for everyone. We are all looking forward to getting back on the court next season.

The 1983-84 Saber Wrestling team — well let's face it — had a pretty bleak year.

For starters, the team consisted mostly of Freshmen and Sophomores. They were coached by two new coaches, in a league where most of the competition was having their best seasons, and are now in the 3A competition.

Although it sounds pretty bad, the wrestlers had a good time — but more important they found out a lot about themselves and their coaches. It was a learning experience which they hope to put into good use next year.

Coach Hlubek said that although he wished we could have had a better record, he was pleased with the spirit and dedication of the members of the team. He thinks that next year's team should be more prepared because he will encourage them in year-round training. "There is a lot of potential in this group of kids if they will work at it and practice during the off season."

Coach Steward was impressed with the members of the JV squad, saying they really tried. He was also impressed with the performance of several wrestlers (including Lee Swanson, Dennis Campbell, and Rod Fischer; the three of them compiled a 47-11-1 record). Both coaches are looking forward to next year and hope to have a better season.

As a team, they did fairly well at the Conference tournament, placing fourth overall behind P.V., W.D., and Camanche. The only championship came from Rich Azinger at 132 lbs. Also receiving medals were Joe Jackson and Tom Maher who garnered 2nd place; placing 3rd were Trent Fey, Monty Sheckles, Steve Hughes, Dennis Goddard, Orville Randolph, Scott Pinter, and Larry Bloomer. At the JV Conference we had two individual champions, Lee Swanson at 105, and Dennis Campbell at 119, also receiving medals were Rod Fischer — 2nd, Kory Budinger — 2nd, Jeff Palzkill — 2nd, and Tim Meier — 3rd.

Varsity Boys Track

Spring wasn't very cooperative with the varsity track team. Bad weather caused their first meet to be cancelled and they didn't really have a nice day for running until the final two weeks of the season. Despite this they did have a fairly successful season.

The field events, for the first time in years, were very well represented by Jeff Poell and Larry Bloomer. The two seniors consistently placed in the top five in the shot and discus. In the high hurdles, Tony Cox led the way repeatedly with 1-2 finishes. Both field running events, however, were backed up well by a contingent of juniors and seniors.

The track team continued to improve all year and finished third in the conference only four points behind a St. Pleasant Valley team and Western Butte squad. Head coach Greg Fletcher and his assistant Dwight Spangler were both sorry to see the season end so soon as most guys were just beginning their best performances of the year.

Girls Track

The girls track team led by captain Chris Hodgett, had another good season with the setting of new records. The girls placed first at the Indian relays and third at the Tipton relays, the big bend conference, and at their own Central relays. They placed fifth at districts and seven girls qualified for the state meet.

Letter winners were Kim Alkire, Tammy Belieu, Colleen Burke, Julie Dittmer, Judy Grell, Chris Hodgett, Janine Hodgett, Hui Yong Hwang, Michelle Mackin, Cynthia Miller, Jan Penningroth, Cathy Rheingans, Melany Selby, Kay Smith, Mindy Taylor, Angie Trimble, and Julie Trimble.

— Terrific Season

The fresh-soph track team had a terrific season in 1984. With dedication and hard work ahead, the teammates pulled together early in the season and started to perfect their races and running speed in hopes of a third straight conference championship title.

Throughout the year, there were many rewarding meets. At the Morrison, Ill. Relays, they received second, losing by only nine points. At the Tipton Tiger Relays, they were defeated from first place by a single point. At the conference championship which closed the season, the tracksters came in second place. Looking ahead to next year, Coach Williams and Coach Meade should receive another talented team while the sophomores move onto the varsity team.

Central's Hard-Hitting Baseball Team

Every weekday last summer the baseball team was either practicing or playing. With all the opportunities to recreate in summer, it takes extra dedication to be on a ball team.

The '83 team set a school record with the most wins for a season, 18. The final game was against Maquoketa and was the most exciting of the year. The Sabers scored five in the first inning, but the opponent came back and took the game. Had they beaten the Cards, it was quite possible they could have gone on to state and done well, since Maquoketa eventually took the state title.

Joel Dierickx set a number of team records. He had the most wins for a pitcher (12), and set the record for the most times at bat (97).

The team held a marathon game and raised money for a new batting cage. Their attitude and that of coach Weller made the season the best Central has seen in many years.

Girl's Softball — Getting Stronger Every Year.

"We started off each practice loyally running two laps on our own. We began at 8:00 a.m.; the freshmen stayed until 11:00 because of drivers education. Our toughest practices were when we practiced sliding and diving."

"A team of 7 freshmen and 4 sophomores, we were all inexperienced, but we worked hard during the summer. We didn't have a winning season, but we learned a lot from playing in the games. The varsity team had a successful season and a lot of good players. They showed good sportsmanship and a good attitude. The underclassmen hope to follow this example."

Boys and Girls Golf

The boys and girls golf team experienced a very cold, wet spring which handicapped their performance. Mr. Hetrick coached the boys while Mr. Meade coached the girls.

There were thirty boys out for golf. Freshmen could participate with the high school for the first time. The boys won four out of four for the first time and finished fourth in the conference.

The girls team had twelve members, including the freshmen. They won only one match and placed fifth in the conference.

The Last Year — Whew!

Cindy Palzkill and Kris Kilburg were frequent visitors to the boys' baseball games.

Snowball has changed somewhat through the years. In the past it was usually held the week before Christmas, where in the last ten years it has been held between Christmas and New Years.

The tradition of boy asking girl has also changed. This year the girls were given the opportunity to ask their guest. Dress was casual, whereas in the past, semi-formal attire was the custom and corsages were given. Choosing a Snowball King and Queen has also been omitted from the festivities. And instead of live entertainment, records were played by Soundsensation.

A Moment

Senior year — something we all have been looking forward to. But as we send in college applications, and the days quickly pass, we look back to our childish endeavors, our friends, and the memories we have stored deep inside us.

We shall remember the days of laughter and those of tears. They are deeply embedded in us. Such days will always be remembered as our senior year.

The Top of the Ladder

Every school year is filled with discoveries. This year, however, was special. The students seemed to be more outgoing. But as always, each of the classes discovered something new.

The sophomores found an atmosphere different from that of the junior high. They all made the jump nicely though, and seemed to get along well with the already seasoned students.

The juniors are considered by many to be the neutral ones; they're sort of stuck in the middle. Soon they will have to carry on the traditions.

The seniors have responsibilities many must decide whether to go to college or not. The seniors will have memories of their school days. As Mr. E says, "These are the best years of life!"

In the fall of 1983, about 155 juniors entered the halls of Central, anticipating what the new year as "middleclassmen" would bring. For most, it brought changes, memories, and eventually a realization of what it's like to be a junior.

Life as a junior is like being the peanut butter between two pieces of bread, the pages inside the cover of a book; or the filament inside the light bulb. In any case, most juniors found that being "stuck in the middle" wasn't so bad. Being a junior meant there were now sophomores who were less experienced than you, and there was still time to mess around before falling into the more serious, pushing pace of the seniors.

Life as a junior at Central also meant that you would take Mr. Bielenberg's American History class, an experience that won't be forgotten by anyone. It meant working hard on shifts and basketball concessions to raise money for senior prom. It meant that you could take Chemistry and write all over Mr. Fleagle's blackboard, or "roast" your favorite classmates in Language Arts. For some, life as a junior meant harder work and more involvement in academics, sports, music, drama, and contributing to school spirit at competitive events.

As the year came to a close, it seemed that life as a junior was almost over before it really came, and the class of '85 would soon be the senior leaders of Central. As juniors left the halls in May, they savored the thought of being next year's seniors, but they wouldn't have wanted to miss "life as a junior" in order to get there.

Being a sophomore brought many advantages and disadvantages. The advantages: having more freedom than we experienced at the junior high, being treated as adults, having only two more years of school left, and not having to climb stairs every day. The disadvantages: having a heavy work load, being called a "stupid sophomore," and finding out what the word "homework" means.

Helping Us Adapt to Society

English plays an important role in everyone's life. Central has a large variety of classes to choose from for all students.

The sophomores are required to take English 10. This course covers everything from grammar to science fiction. This year it was taught by Mrs. Doom and Mrs. Stampe.

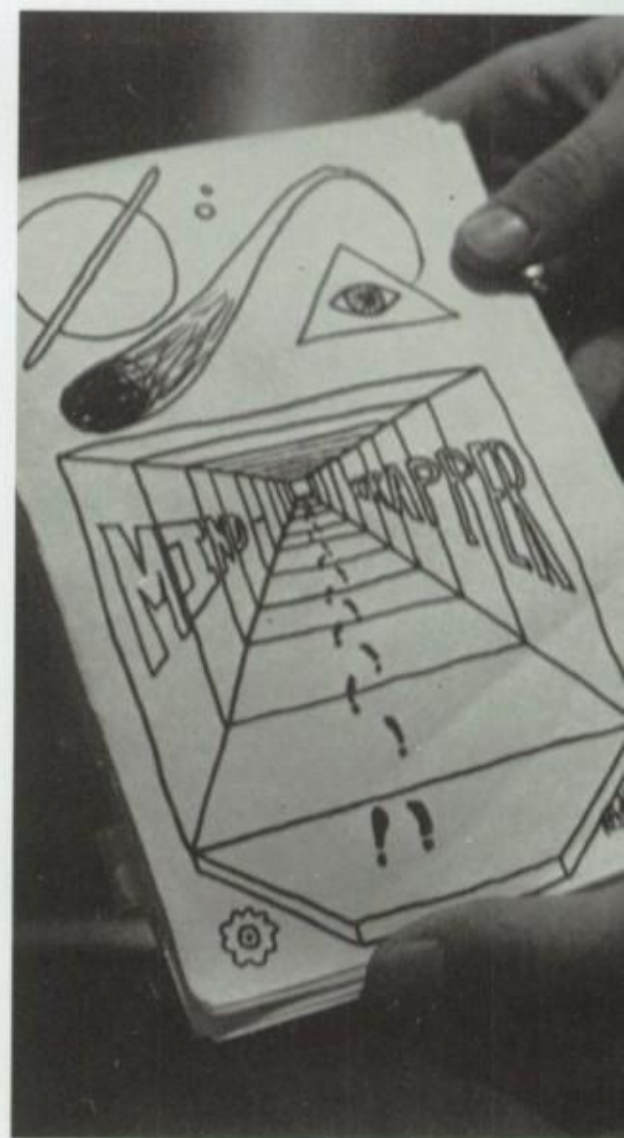

Juniors who take American Literature expand their literary awareness to the different types of writing in the United States. In addition to this, they must take Language Arts which covers grammar. Those who take Honors English study the philosophers of world literature. This course is taught by Mr. Raikes.

Other courses offered to students include Creative Writing, Expository Writing, Media Now, Acting and Stagecraft, Interpersonal Communication, Debate, and Individualized Reading.

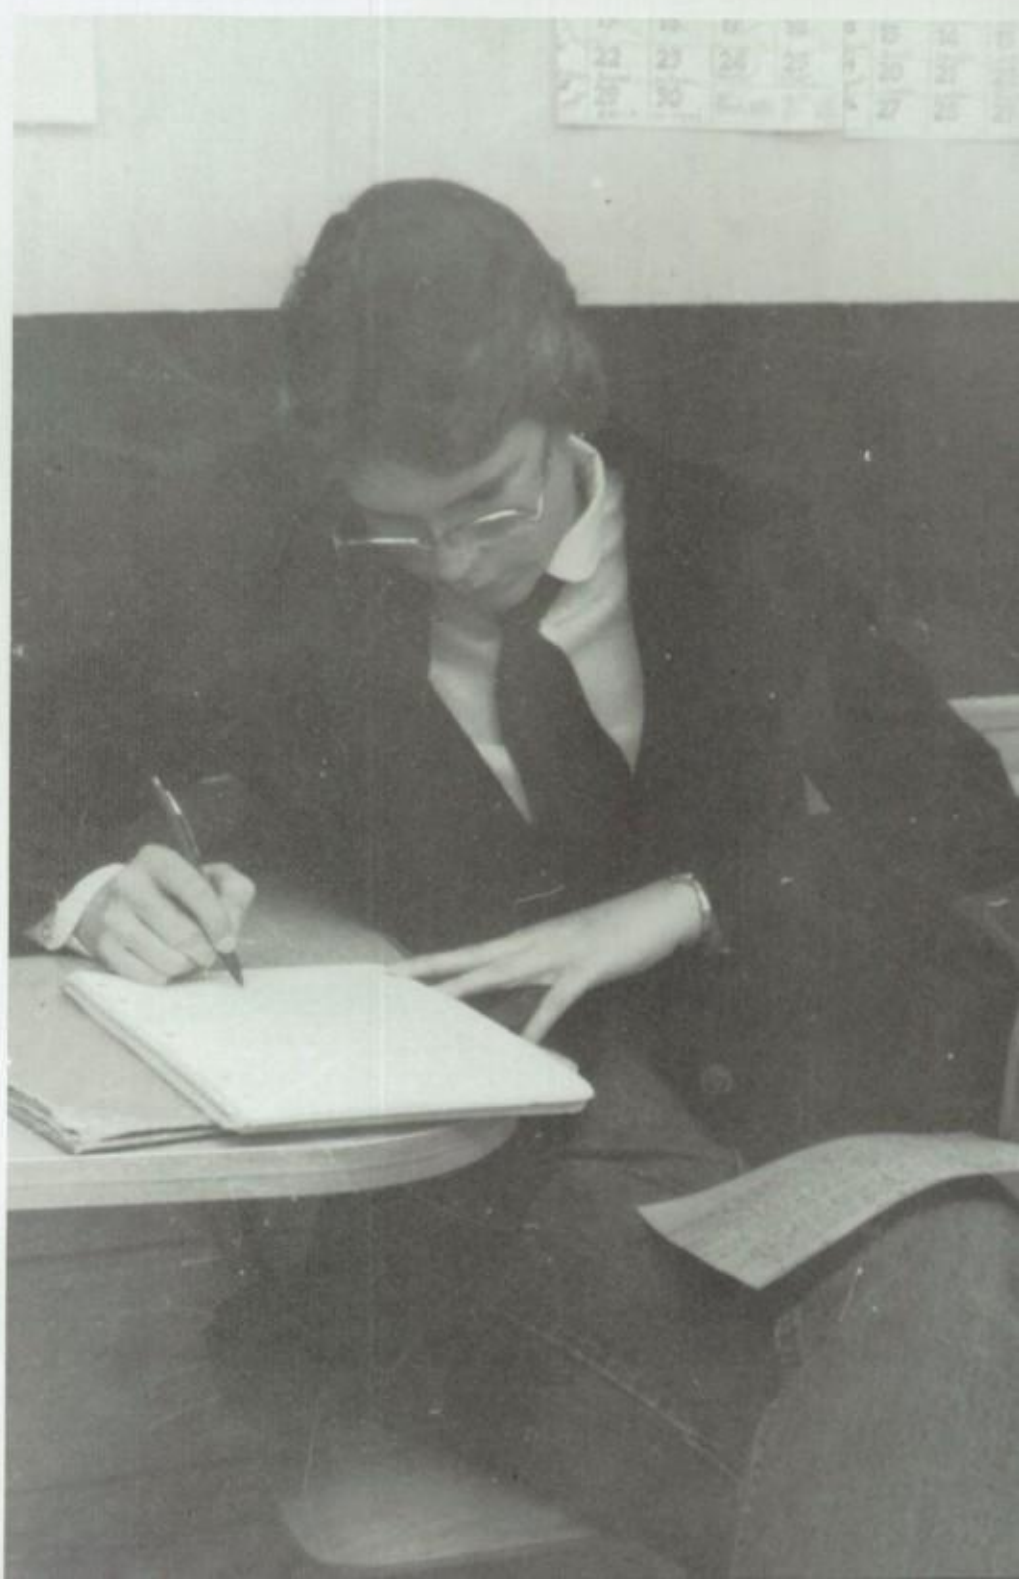

The teachers who strive to help better our ability to speak, write, and adapt to society are Mr. Raikes, Mr. Williams, Mr. Hetrick, Mrs. Doom, and Mrs. Stampe.

Central's Math department offers a wide variety of classes. These include Essential Math, which is a type of course that takes you back to the basics of mathematics. College Math takes you up to the more advanced mathematical problems. Students who take this course are usually those who wish to further their education in a math or science field.

Computers have become a widely used item. Many colleges require a computer course, so those who have taken it in high school have learned many of the techniques needed.

The students will never forget what seemed to be many long hours sitting in the classes taught by Mr. Beck, Mr. Borland, and Mr. Utter. But if it weren't for them where would the students be?

Science

"Explosive in All Areas"

A new computer added a new area of study to the science department. An Apple IIe computer with one disk drive was obtained. The students could sign up for a computer hour to work on the computer. Some students used preprogrammed disks while some students were able to write their own programs.

The computer was alternated between Mr. Brower and Mr. Fleagle — one had it one week, the other the next week.

The programs were used to teach things like molarity, Ph, and genetics. A typical program begins by asking the student his name — to add a personal touch. Next it informs the students of how it plans to go about doing things and how the student should respond to answer the questions asked. The programs are humanely designed. If one answers a question incorrectly, the program responds by telling him what the answer should be and how it is derived. If the student answers correctly, the computer sends congratulations with statements like "Correct! You're cookin' now."

There is much room for development with the computer and science. As the students become more computer literate, they'll find more ways to use it with both their homework and special projects.

Special education offers classes in English, world history, math, U.S. history, consumer education, and government and economics. The class sizes range from 7 to 17. Individual one-on-one learning plays an important role in this program. In terms of occupation and vocational preparations, the students are placed all over Clinton County (except for the town of Clinton). The work study students have a 92% average of holding their jobs. Of the fourteen seniors in the program, twelve have either a full or part time job for the summer. Two of the twelve will be going on next fall to Muscatine for more job training. In terms of job placement and retention, the work program is an excellent one.

Driving to Success

In the classroom, Mr. Padgett emphasizes the importance of learning the proper rules of the road, such as 5 Smith Seeing Habits. The actual driving time is used to teach proper driving techniques, like alertness, courtesy, and the two-second rule. This also provides invaluable driving experience for all his students.

The 1983-84 school year was memorable in many ways. For Drivers Ed. it was a sad one. The School Board, due to budget cutbacks, decided to release Mr. Padgett from his duties for the following school year. Acting on the recommendations of Dr. Whipple, the Board approved the termination of his contract on a 4 vote.

For twenty years, Mr. Padgett did a superior job in the Drivers Education department. Many of the more experienced faculty members regretted his leaving, saying, "We will never get another Driver's Ed. instructor as good as Mr. Padgett."

Hablamos Espanol

Second semester brought about a change of teachers in the Spanish department. Mrs. Burke began teaching second semester, as Mrs. Raikes was transferred to the guidance department at the junior high.

Mrs. Burke grew up in north-eastern Iowa and went to college at St. Ambrose, majoring in foreign languages. She then taught German and Spanish in central Iowa, and has substituted in this school district for three years.

Mrs. Burke said she really enjoys teaching because the students are "good," and since Spanish is an elective they are usually interested in learning Spanish.

The only thing that has been less than enjoyable for Mrs. Burke is being com pared to Mrs. Raikes. "She didn't make us do this much work!" is a common complaint in most Spanish classes.

"But it is nice having Mrs. Raikes in this school so if I have any questions she can answer them for me," Mrs. Burke said. She also said everyone has been very helpful with suggestions and advice for her classes, especially the students.

Vocational Agriculture

The addition of Central's new voc-ag facilities greatly enhanced the department's curriculum. With a shop, lab, and larger classroom area, students were able to conduct projects that fit their own interests and ag classes were sometimes operated on a more individualized basis than in previous years.

The department began its year with classroom instruction on beef production, pastures, and chemicals. In December they "played" the Chicago board of trade for several weeks, and then moved to the shop to work on individual farm-related projects in the second semester. As usual, Mr. Smicker kept all classtime lively and interesting with never a dull moment.

The production agriculture classes were busy in the shop during first semester, building to make it a more useful place. By January, they had completed sawhorses, tool cabinets, bookshelves, storage cabinets, a wood storage area, a glass-enclosed trophy case, a pigeon hole rack, and a FFA emblem and block letters which were later hung on the face of the new building. The classes then moved back to the classroom, where they studied farm chemical application, nutrition, soils, and livestock evaluation. Ag college representatives also spoke to the classes and many educational tours were taken in the fall and spring.

Creative Year in Art

Mike Mumm keeps working while Kathy Flammang looks up for a candid shot.

The art students had a very creative year and visited many interesting places. The painting class painted water color images of Westbrook. The art exploration students visited the John Deer Administration Center and the Davenport Art Gallery. The more advanced classes spent a day in Iowa City, exploring the Museum of Art and the Old Capitol. Students also competed at the Marycrest Art Festival. Those who received honorable mentions were Carol Rittmer for printmaking, Kelly Anderson for pastel drawing, and Joel Dierickx for charcoal drawing. All the hard work finally came together at the Fine Arts Celebration. Refreshments were enjoyed and the year's best works shown off. There were also individual exhibits by students who had been involved with art for three years.

Industrial Arts

The Industrial Arts department has two instructors, Mr. Anderson and Mr. Hlubek — who took over auto mechanics and metals.

Mr. Anderson and Mr. Hlubek are easily distinguishable. Mr. Anderson is shorter and slowly, but definitely, losing his hair. Mr. Hlubek is the one with the big smile all the time.

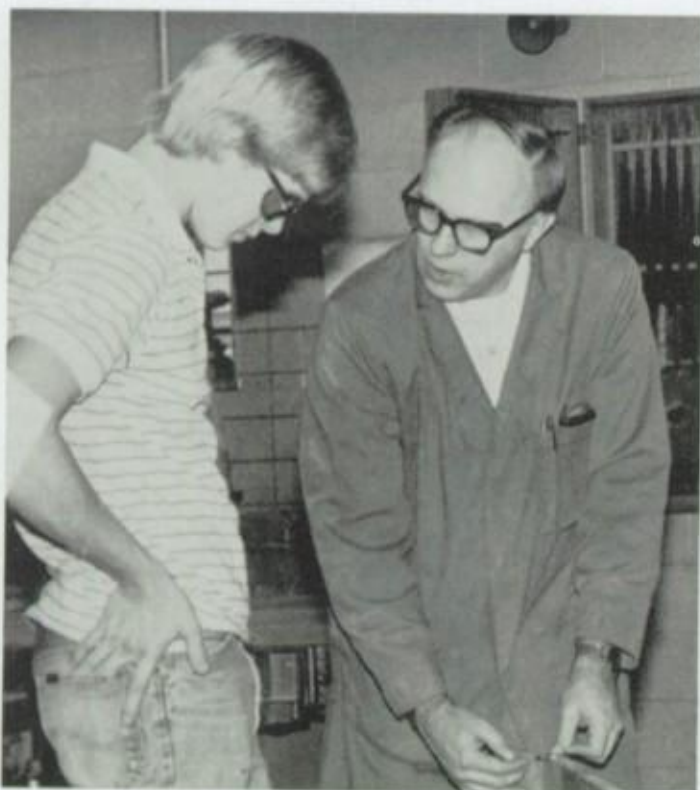

Mr. Anderson teaches Woodworking I and II. His students turn out excellent projects from each.

In Woodworking I the students build small projects and learn the basic woodworking skills. In Woodworking II the students complete more advanced projects, and can select one major project to build throughout the year.

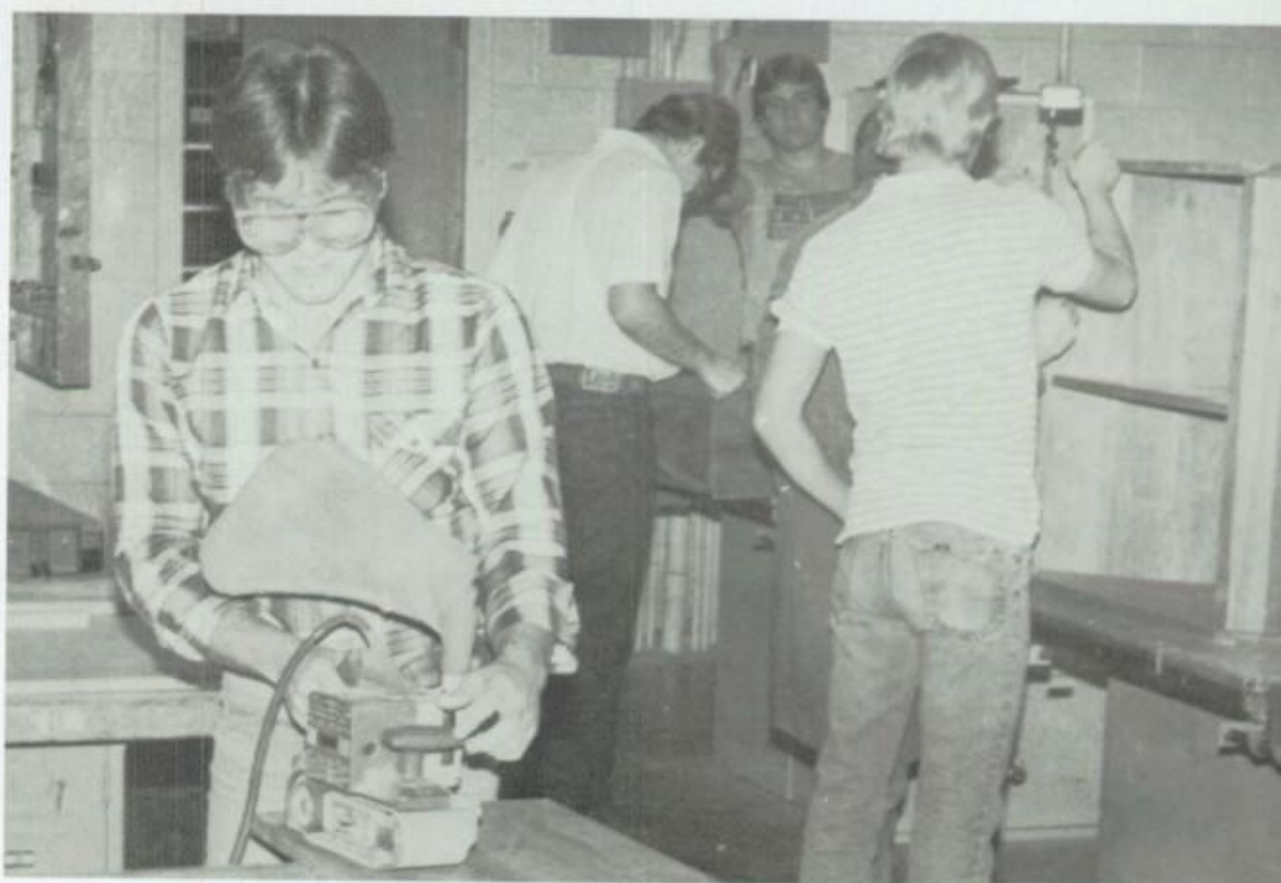

Drafting I and II teach architecture starting with simple drawings and working up to building complete houses.

In Metals, the students learn about the different kinds of metal. They also build different kinds of projects of their choice.

Auto-mechanics students learn the basic care of the automobile engine.

Choir Members Look Forward to the Trip to St. Louis

The 1983-1984 Central Choir consists of eighty-three members. They practiced three times a week on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. This year's choir had a lot of talent and many people who just enjoyed singing. The major accompanists this year were Beth Gannon, Angie Wulf, and Jon Price. The vocal department moved into the old band room late last fall, making them less secluded than before. The new room has many advantages to practicing. A new set of risers was also purchased for those undoubtedly enthusiastic choir members. The choir members sold cheese and sausage to raise money for a trip to St. Louis in May. The sales were successful and the goal was more than reached. Some of the musical activities and concerts the choir participated in were the Conference Festival, Christmas Concert, Pops Concert, Spring Concert, and the Choir contest in May. The members all worked hard to prepare for these activities. No matter what, Miss Eggleston was always happy in the end — even after some of those "crazy" rehearsals.

Marching Band

The marching band season begins in the fall at the same time football and volleyball practice start. It is always a very busy time for the band members and Mr. and Mrs. McMahon. This year's band, rifle, and flag corps consisted of 94 members. When school began, everyone practiced first hour Monday through Friday in order to be ready for the halftime shows at the home football games.

The marching band was led by major-ettes Kelly Spangler and Angie Wulf. The rifle members were: seniors — Deb Simon, Julie Kuehn, Cathy Hergert, and Wanda Moore; junior — Joy Witt, and sophomores — Dawn Haring. Deb Simon and Ann Mayberry twirled batons.

The new band room was really nice to have during this season. There was so much more space to store uniforms and equipment and much more area to move around and practice in.

The band traveled to Adventureland on October first to visit the park and perform for the visitors. It turned out to be quite an eventful day with one adventure after another, including a flat tire on the way home. Everyone had to pile into two buses. We soon found out how sardines feel when they are piled into one can!

The annual indoor band concert was held at the end of the season. Many awards were given out — some not so serious. Part of the show was performed outside under the lights since the last game's show was rained out.

Many popular tunes were performed this year. Some were danced to while others had special formations. The flag girls did a jazzy dance to Michael Jackson's "Beat It:" which was a hit. Other tunes were Liptinek, "Only Time Will Tell" by Asia, "Stray Cat Strut:" by the Stray Cats, and "Centerfold" by the J. Geils band. Ann Mayberry and Kristi McDevitt did a fire baton routine to "Hot Stuff" and Deb Simon, dressed all in red, twirled to "Firebird."

The 1983-84 marching band season was a lot of hard work but also a lot of fun. Everyone looks forward to next year's season.

Social Studies

This year Mrs. Speer and Mr. Spangler stressed diversity of world religions in places like Latin America, the Near East, and Asia. They tried to help students find a wider World-view for America.

Mr. Bellenberg suggested down-home aspects of American History, with projects and stories which showed the human side of the American past.

Mr. Kastler took time-out from administration duties to teach Modern Problems and Psychology which called for in-depth studies of important "whys" in today's world.

Mr. Cederoth taught Sociology, American Government, and the Senior Seminar, which especially prepared his students for college research and directed study interest.

Business

The Business Department, headed by Mr. Schnurr and Mr. Christie, has added two new computer classes, Automated Accounting for the Micro-Computer and Office Practice. Both have added a new dimension to the Business Department.

Automated Accounting, supervised by Mr. Schnurr, is for advanced accounting students. The class is one semester long and is completely individualized. This allows the students to work at their own pace and to excel — if they are prepared to work hard. Each uses a pre-programmed discette which applies the various branches of the accounting system — from the general ledger to payroll. This exposes the future accountants to many areas not covered in basic accounting.

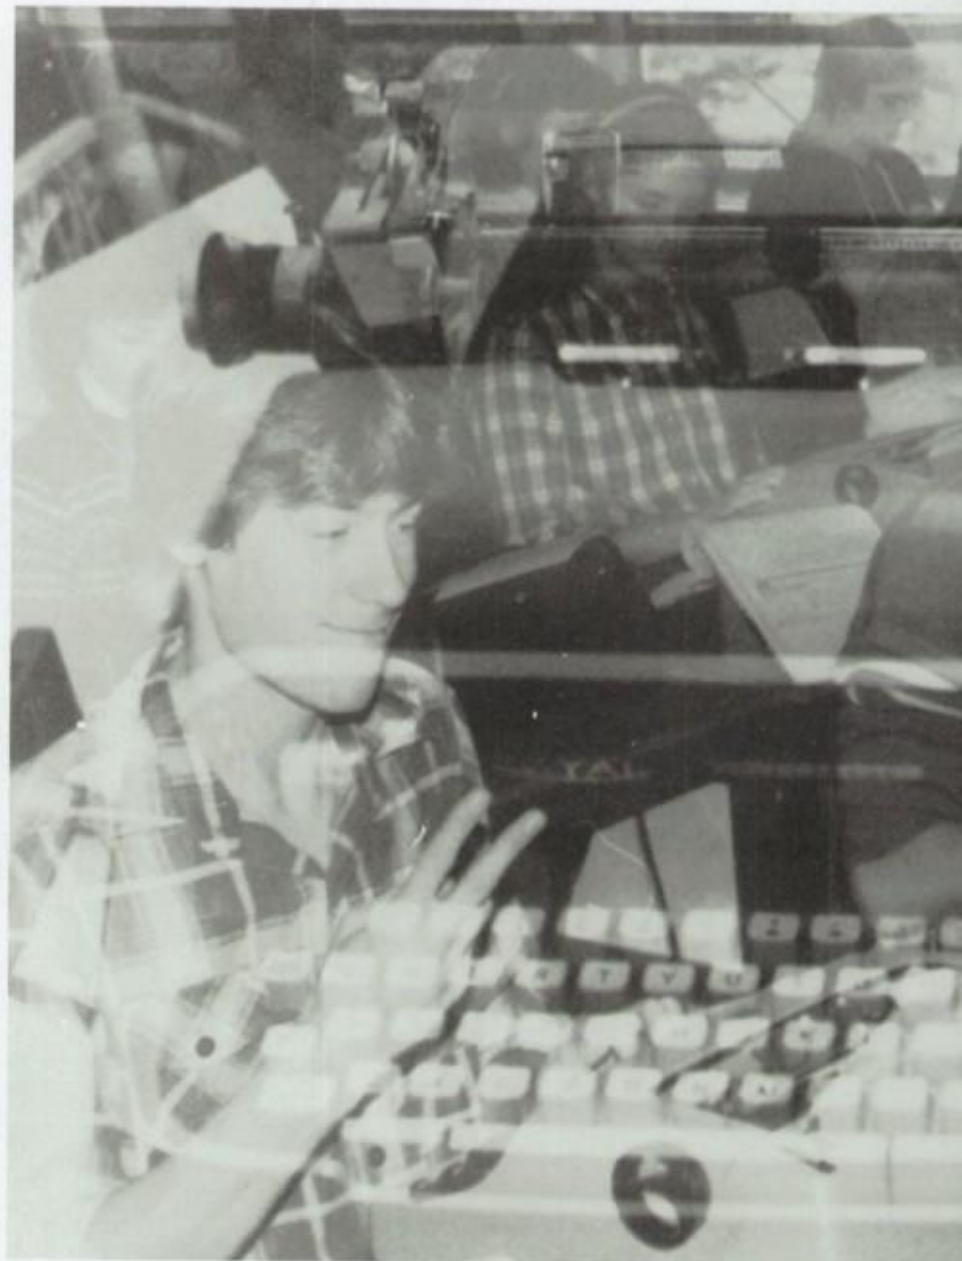

Mr. Christie's Office Practice is an all year course designed to improve typing and dictation skills. Emphasis is placed on writing and processing letters on the computer. The students gain valuable knowledge and experience which is very helpful in secretarial work and other professions.

Our Business Department at Central offers a wide-range of classes that are beneficial to everyone. It is growing to meet the increasing need for these skills in everyday life.

Variety Is the Spice of Life

Physical education classes at Central provide a variety of experiences. The activities covered include: soccer, field hockey, j-ball, softball, Cooper's 12 minute run, weight training, volleyball, basketball, rollerskating, tennis, ping pong, shuffleboard, and badminton. The sophomores are required to become certified in CPR. The girls began a new cross country skiing unit this year, but the weather didn't cooperate so it had to be cut short.

The goal of physical education classes is to show the value of physical fitness and ways to achieve.

By introducing students to a variety of experiences, it allows them to choose an activity they enjoy in pursuing physical fitness on their own.

Problems With the Future?

Problems with the future? Career undecided? Scheduling difficulties? The guidance office can help! Yes, there is such a place. Where, you ask? Remember that little room on the corner just past the cafeteria? That's it! Passers-by may often see a junior or senior sitting at the table pretending to study. Actually they are there for a reason. Very often Mr. Mundt, the guidance counselor, may see fit for a student to be called into his office. One of the "receptionists" is then summoned to run the passes.

Now you may ask, where is his office? As one enters the guidance office it is obvious that there is a sharp turn to the right and down the dark, narrow hallway lies the domain of Mr. Mundt. No, he doesn't bite, he is there to assist anyone with problems. His duties include helping students with their personal problems; attitude toward school; academic problems, and he keeps the records of one's academic progress class schedule.

The Guidance office contains many helpful volumes for graduating seniors and soon-to-be seniors. Upon the book shelves lies the information for the future — college directories, career briefs and information, scholarship applications, and armed services bulletins. There are sign-up sheets for college representatives, checking out materials, and to set up a time to see Mr. Mundt. The guidance office is actually a domain for the future and should be an important place to those planning to further their education.

The peer group is guidance by the students for the students. The group consists of up to fifteen students who meet three times a week during school hours and are under the direction of Mrs. Raikes and Mr. Hetrick. Anyone can participate and is encouraged to do so. Those interested must sign up when registering for the next year. The students in the group work on communication skills and working with people. Group members have lots of fun together and learn while having fun.

Career information is abundant the guidance office.

Spirited Leaders

If "for CHEERLEADERS"

If you can smile while your team is being smeared,
And yell and scream and holler just the same,
If you can spark enthusiasm for a loss feared and proudly wear your school's colors and name,
If you can laugh while being booed
And not make angry retorts — ignore the foe
If you can be gracious, win or lose
And with your fellow cheerleaders avoid a row,
If you can have faith in your team's ability
And never doubt the will to fight and win
If while others preach a referee's senility,
You can start a cheer to subdue the din,
If you can cheer for winners and losers just the same
If the team's loss is your own and their win your personal gain,
If you can force your lungs and heart and throat to carry on
If you can jump and stomp and clap
After every muscle rebels and wishes to be gone
And you feel the game become an endurance trap,
If you can face the first quarter and the second overtime
And treat them just the same
If you can use up every rhyme
And make one up to start over again,
If you can make a pile of your uniform at night
And stoop to pick it up to wear once more
If you can keep the fans from a verbal fight
And do your best while on the floor,
If you can fill the last whole minute
With cheers that make the rafters ring,

Then yours are the saddleshoes and everything with it —
A cheerleader and all it brings . . .

AFS

The AFS chapter had one foreign exchange student this year. Dierdre Hamilton-Gibbs of New Zealand made friends easily and delighted all the students with her down under accent.

The chapter also sponsored a weekend for eight exchange students. For the weekend they stayed in the homes of Central students. They went to a sporting event and several dinners.

The chapter went rollerskating and skiing. They also had a sales drive of candy to raise money.

Most We Do Alone

— With a Little Help

The Booster Clubs at Central play a vital role in the continuation of our sports and music programs. The Clubs are composed of local merchants and businesses that provide financial assistance to the athletic and music departments. They help offset the cost involved in operating the programs.

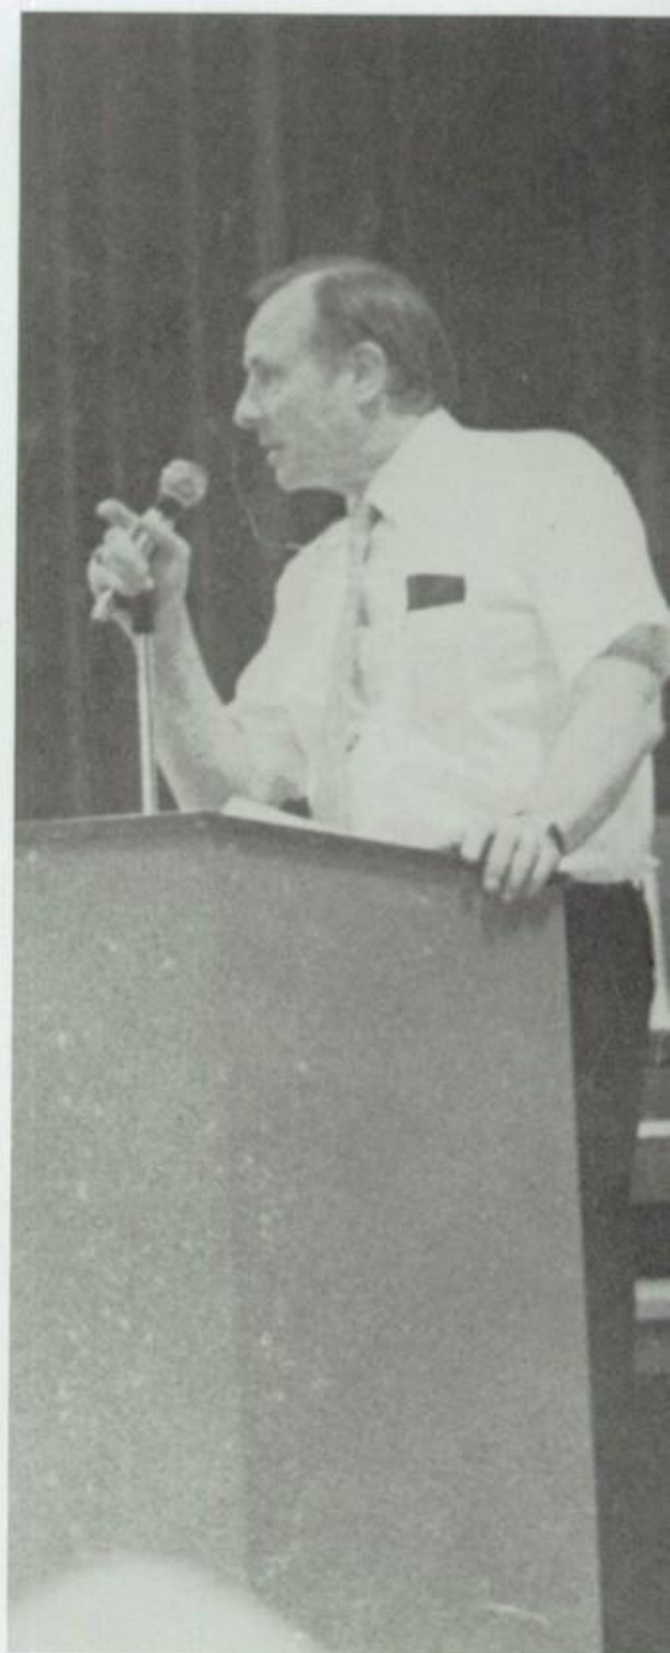

Athletic Booster funds are used to purchase and replace sports equipment and uniforms, pay for certain traveling expenses, provide meals for the athletes in full-day competitions (such as wrestling tournaments), and covers numerous other expenses. A few years ago, the athletic boosters donated money to purchase a new scoreboard system for our high school gymnasium.

Music Booster funds pay for new band and flag corps uniforms and equipment, the music banquet each spring, and rating I medals and other awards for music students.

Both booster clubs sponsor pancake breakfasts, raffles, and similar activities, in which the entire community may participate. Our high school and its students are appreciative of the support for the extracurricular departments.

Besides the extracurricular activities sponsored within our school system, many Central students are members of organizations such as the Rainbow Girls, Girl Scouts, 4-H, and church youth groups. These provide students with the opportunity to meet new people, and they offer valuable experiences in leadership that will carry on into adulthood. The youths "learn by doing," in activities such as bike-a-thons, camps, judging contests, fair exhibitions, retreats, and dances.

One of the Best Chapters in Iowa

The chapter of Future Farmers of America at Central is strong and respected, both in the community and throughout the state. Central's chapter of 123 members is the third largest in Iowa and actively participates in agricultural projects and events. These include individual projects, livestock exhibition, judging contests, community service projects, fundraisers, farming small corn and bean plots, and FFA leadership contests.

In August of 1983, the chapter was premier exhibitor at the Iowa State Fair in both market and derby hog competition. Still shining in the memories of all who attended the swine show is the moment when it was announced that Central members had taken all ten of the top placings in one derby class. Also at the State Fair, the chapter received champion group of five beef breeding heifers, was second in the state in horses, and fifth in breeding sheep.

In the fall, the chapter harvested its corn and bean plots and held its annual bolt sales. In December, approximately 1600 cases of citrus fruit and apples were delivered in the chapter's annual fruit sales, and the annual community pest hunt was conducted.

In February, members cooperated with the FHA in sponsoring the "Sweetheart Swirl" dance, where Mary Kay Hand and Ron Lippens were crowned queen and king. Chapter members also participated in sub-district leadership contests in West Liberty, and advanced five contests to the district level. Six members also received agricultural proficiency awards which advanced to the state level.

members from forty-two southeast Iowa FFA chapters traveled to DeWitt for the 1984 Iowa Southeast District. Maureen Barber was elected Reporter of the Southeast district.

Thirty-seven members attended the state FFA convention in Des Moines on April 26-28. At the convention, fourteen members participated in leadership contest, making DeWitt Central the chapter with the most participants in the state. Dana Meier performed in the state FFA band, Janice Schlotfeldt was a member of the state FFA chorus, and Heidi Fatchett appeared in the state talent show. Also at the convention, Neal Soenksen retired from his position as state Vice-President from the southeast district.

Agatha Christie's A Murder Is Announced

This fall, the Central drama department presented Agatha Christie's, A Murder Is Announced. The murder mystery begins when a murder is actually advertised in the local paper. The event takes place at Aunt Letty's (Melissa Martin) home at 6:00. When the announcement of the murder is noticed, it causes some concern, but mostly curiosity. Some friends and neighbors show up and just when it seems as if there is going to be a party, the lights go out — and shots are heard. There has been a murder and all are suspects, but in the end, Inspector Cradock (Jon Price) solves the mystery with the help of the eccentric Miss Marple (Jane Rodriguez). Finally, all enjoy delicious death! (A scrumptious chocolate cake).

"Carnival"

"Carnival," a Tony award-winning musical with music and lyrics by Bob Merrill, was performed March 9 and 10 in the CCHS gymnasium.

Casting was done by directors Julie Doom and Carolyn Eggelston. Rehearsals ran every day from the beginning of January up until the performance. A great deal of hard work was put into the "carnival" which proved to be a success.

The Central Music Boosters served a dinner preceeding the 7:30 p.m. performances in the CCHS "French cafe" which was actually the cafeteria decorated elaborately.

Playing leading roles in the musical were Jill Henricksen, as Lili, a lonely orphan who was enchanted with the idea of being a part of the glamorous carnival; Jon Price, as Marco the Magnificent, who vies for Lili's attention as does Paul, the lame puppeteer, played by Mark Sperry.

Joel Dierickx played Jacquot, Paul's assistant, and Kelly Spangler played Rosalie, the magician's assistant and jealous lover.

Rob Beer portrayed the owner-management of the Cirque de Paris and roustabouts were played by Karen Hoffmann, Leslie Johnson, Lisa McGarry, and Heidi Fatchett.

Jane Rodriguez and Deanne McCulloh performed as the puppets Carrot Top, Horrible Henry, Renardo, and Margarite.

Other cast members were Keith Green as Gnobert the vendor, Brian Ahrens as Dr. Glass, Melissa Martin as Greta, Sheila Kagemann as the aerialist, Annette Sheldon as Olga, Kim Spangler as Gladys Zuwicki and Janelle Schrader as Gloria Zuwicki.

Deb Simon, Julie Paarmann, Shelly Thiel, Anne Campbell and Julie Kuehn were the Bluebird Girls, a singing act from Dusseldorf, and Collen Burke, Bob Kastler, and Sheila McGarry were the jugglers.

The whole carnival rejoices together.

Members of the chorus were: Tony Cox, Tim Meier, Randy Walker, Dean Banowetz, Alyn Thomsen, Scott Meland, Keith Green, Brian Ahrens, Nick Petersen, Mindy Krueger, Colleen Boyer, Michelle Bender, Jayne Peters, Kim Spangler, Janelle Schrader, Annette Sheldon, Melissa Martin, and Sheila Kageman.

Cindy Mackin was assistant producer. Beth Gannon and Angie Wulfe were accompanists, Kris Rueter was costume chairman, and Dierdre Hamilton-Gibbs was make-up chairman.

Student Council

The Student Council sponsored many school and community activities for the 1983-84 school year. They began the year by cleaning the old lounge chairs and purchasing two new ones. A dance sponsored by the council, was held in the gym after one of the football games. Music was provided by PCA (Pinter, Crosthwaite Associated). The Student Council members also brought their own records and tapes for this occasion.

Homecoming was a very busy time for most people involved in the Student Council. A Homecoming breakfast was served the morning of the parade, game, and dance along with many other activities. Local merchants donated money and food for the breakfast and they too were welcome to come. The coaches helped to serve the breakfast. There was a nice turnout for the "new" event. The Student Council, with the help of Mr. Kastler, worked hard in planning all of the Homecoming events. Their hard work was well worth it. More people were involved than ever before.

During Christmas vacation a "Snowball" dance was sponsored by the Council. This was an informal event where the girls asked the boys. The dance was held in the gym which was decorated with lights and streamers. Music was provided by "Soundsations Audio."

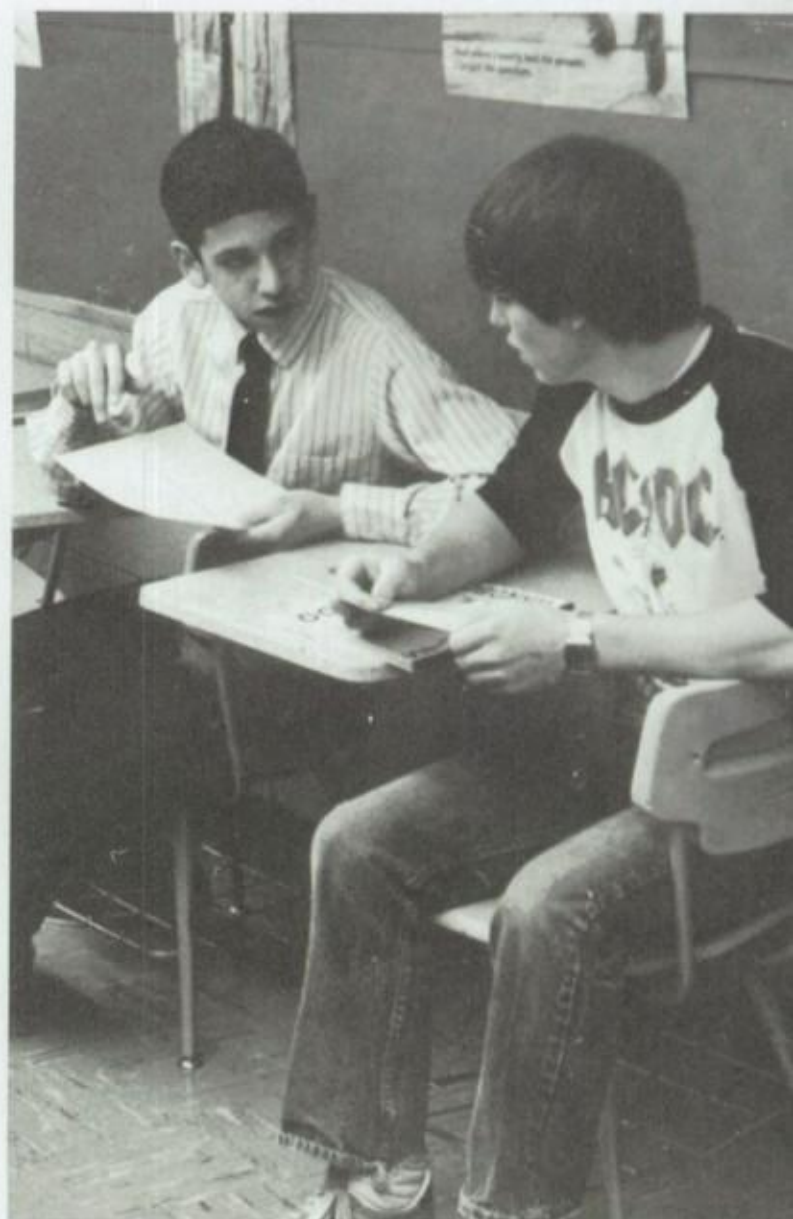

As the school year came to a close the Student Council helped in other activities. They helped the AFS sell candy bars to raise money for their club. Some officers also spoke to the School Board at one of its meetings about the Student Council activities.

The Student Council scholarship for $200 was also drawn up to be awarded to a senior boy or girl who is interested in furthering his/her education. A new committee consisting of Council members, students, and teachers was formed. In the future, this committee will deal with discipline problems and related issues. The Student Council will stress themselves as a governing body as well as a social committee.

The annual picnic in May ended the year. New members were welcomed and new officers installed. The picnic was held at Scott County Park. The members also participated in school exchanged ideas with members from that school.

The officers were: Kelly Spangler — President, Colleen Burke — Vice-President, Jan Pennigroth — Secretary, and Dave Burke — Treasurer.

FHA

The Future Homemakers of America were very active with events all year round. The club met the first Wednesday of each month. In September they held their first organizational meeting and elected officers. Teresa Hughes was elected president, Mary Kay Hand — Vice President, Jodi Meier — Secretary, Beth Gannon — Treasurer, and Deanne McCulloh — Historian. At homecoming they tried a new activity — raffling a stuffed lion. They also entered a float in the homecoming parade. For Christmas the group went caroling to the homes of senior citizens. In January a college panel attended their meeting. In February they sponsored the Sweetheart Swirl with the FFA and a cake decorator gave a demonstration at their meeting. As a service project, they offered free babysitting during parent-teacher conferences.

The purpose of FHA is to better the individual in service, personal growth and leadership, social activities, and education. FHA is open to all high school students who have had a home economics class. Advisors are Mrs. Speer and Miss Westenmeyer.

Science Club

Science Club is a group of people bonded by a common interest — nature. During the winter they attempted to go on a ski trip, but it had to be cancelled due to unfavorable weather.

In December, they organized a dance to raise money. PCA, our own high school "band," offered to play records free of charge. Students Scott Pinter and Kurt Crosthwaite led the band. In February, a field trip was taken to view cadavers at Palmer College in Davenport. Some students weren't sure what to expect, yet it turned out to be an interesting experience for everyone.

Meetings were held once a month. Guests such as Larry Dolphin and Jeff Jacobson were some of the speakers that were invited to talk at the meetings.

Jazz and Concert Band

The DeWitt Central High School Concert Band, consisting of seventy-three members, performed in four major concerts during the year.

The first concert was on Sunday, December twelve in the high school gymnasium. It was the annual Christmas concert performed with the sophomore and mixed choirs. One number was a medley of Christmas songs featuring with both the band and choir.

The annual winter pops band concert was held in February in the gym followed by an open house in the new band room. Cookies and punch were served while the jazz bands gave a short concert in the new band room.

April second was the all school band concert. At this event, the sixth grade, junior high, and high school bands performed. One number, "America," was played with the junior high and high school together. The high school band also played along with the sixth grade band in one tune.

The final band concert of the 1983-84 school year was the Tri-school concert which was held in Pleasant Valley. North Scott and Central were the guest bands. Each school played two pieces from the seniors side of music.

Mr. McMahon and the entire band enjoyed the year, due especially to the addition of the new band room. Also, they would like to thank everyone who attended their concerts.

Dave Hughes and Mary Nugent share a slow dance.

Chris Hodgett and her guest didn't dress in the usual Prom attire.

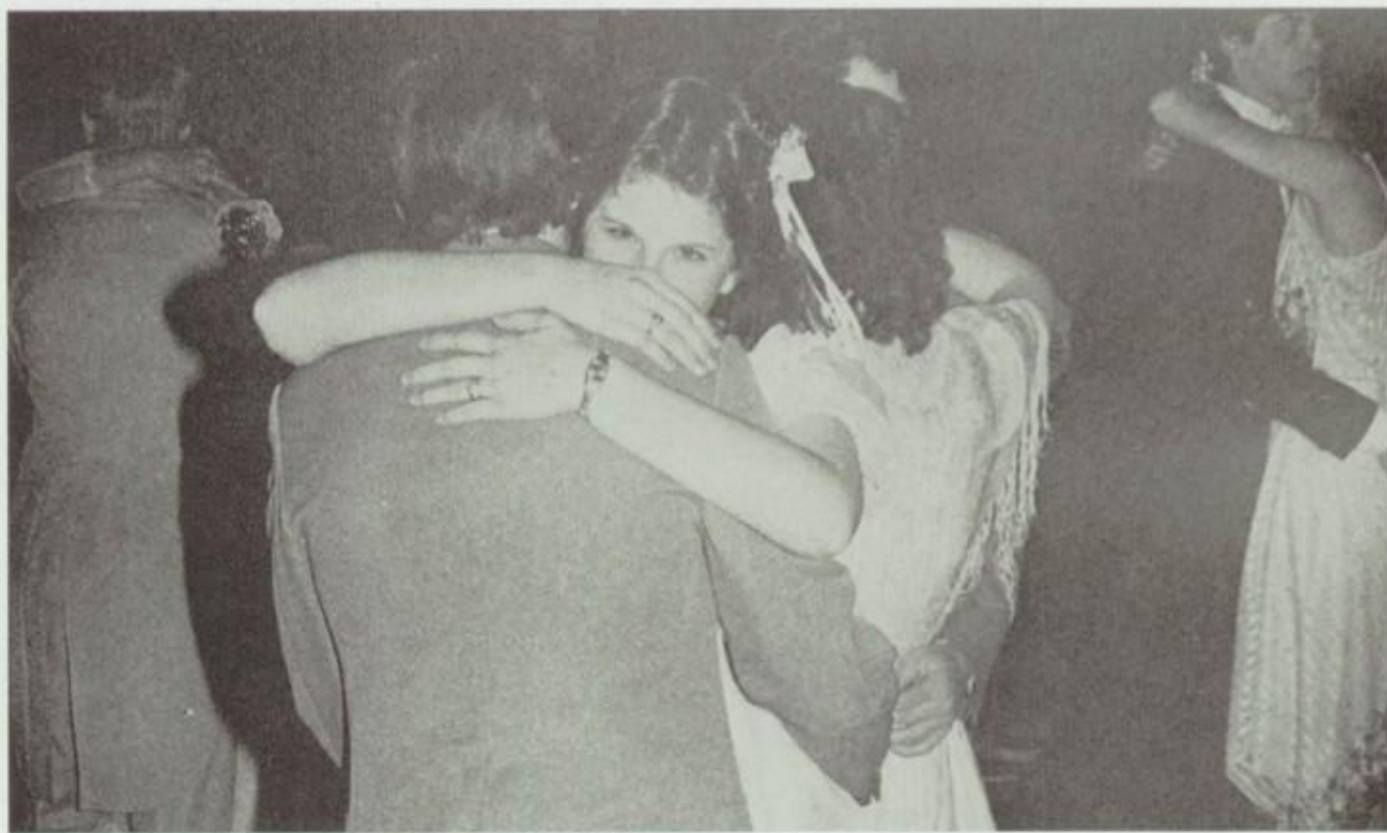

Orville Randolph and Deirdre Hamilton-Gibbs were crowned King and Queen at the festivities.

Joe Trimble and Bob Barr are their usual selves wherever they go.

Dea Jensen and Pat Burke join the other couples in a slow dance.

Cinderella's dream come true was the theme for the April prom. The band was McPhisto, a rock group from Cedar Rapids. For many, prom is the highlight of the year, a time to have the best of everything. The glitter and glamour was as beautiful as in the past. The couples were just as good looking. The only criticism that was voiced was that the band was too fast. The mellow crowd would have liked a few more slow songs. However, the bumpers and grinders were kept very satisfied with the precise rock sound the band gave. The evening was special, a memory for all of us to keep.

Rick McCulloh is ready to hand in his gown after graduation.

Graduation procedures were taught well. They were told to look forward at all times.

Time for award announcements.

The excitement of walking across the stage is on Robert Barr's face.

Tom Graham gives us his scholarly look.

The glories of graduation — Beth Babbitt, Bob Barr, and Shelley Baxter.

“Well, We’ve Graduated”

“Well, I’ve graduated! I feel relieved, renewed, and happy. This was one of the greatest nights of my life.

I got to school at 6:30. A lot of the kids were already there. I went to room 6 to put on my gown and discovered that at home I had been wearing the gown backwards! Thank heaven for my classmates! They always help me get back on the right track.

After I got my gown and cap on, we went outside for a photo session. Mothers and friends took pictures of already teary-eyed seniors decked out in purple and gold. What a sight!

Soon it was 7:00 and time to go to the choir room to rehearse the songs “Flying Free” and “Up Where We Belong.” It was hard to concentrate. We realized it was our last rehearsal and yet we had to remember the notes and words to songs we hadn’t had much time to practice. Some of the kids started to tear when we sang the last phrase of “Flying Free.” But everyone pulled themselves back together.

We lined up in the hallway at about 7:20. Waiting there was one of those neat moments. Everyone was full of emotion. Some kids were making jokes; some hugged one another, and others just smiled. It was really the last time we were together as one. After commencement, everyone was in a hurry to get rid of their gowns, get their diplomas, and take off for the parties.

In couples and one arm length apart, we walked into the gym. I couldn’t believe the number of people there. When everyone was in, we watched for Dr. Whipple to stand. That was our cue to sit down. He said a few words and introduced us to the speaker (Joan Johannsen). She was great. She gave us six points to remember in order to live happier lives. They all made common sense, but somehow she (as do our parents) seemed to understand them better.

I wish I could remember all of them. One was to always have humor. She said that that was most important. We should be able to laugh at ourselves when we do something dumb and then leave it at that — then go on to something else. She also said we should set goals; do what we love in life and do our best at it, and we should communicate and express ourselves.

After the speech, the kids got their diplomas. Bonnie Bueller, president of the school board, gave them to us (which were really blank sheets of purple paper). When it was my turn she shook my hand and said “Congratulations” in a warm voice. She had to do that 174 times!

It was a great evening. I feel now like I’m ready for summer vacation. Commencement ended that condition called “senioritis.”

Jane,

I'm sure you don't mind I write on this
one else has. It's been a lot of fun this past year getting to know you.

You're a great person with a great personality, so don't change. Reach for the stars, and good luck.

As I sit comfortably
on the river bank
I notice a shy reflection
In the water.

An uncertain image of a girl's hopes and dreams
and her future to come.

Her face is so innocent, and her movements
so unsure.

I sit quietly, continuing to watch,
while trying to figure out what her eyes are attempting to say.

The reflection shows confusion
But not,
unhappiness.

After hours of spying
on the reflection
I realize
The uncertain image is of a girl who is at the crossroads of childhood and adulthood,
An image of reality.

A Little Fun on the Side

All Good Things Must Come to an End

When it comes down to the last thirty days of school, the kids start to get anxious. The seniors worry about the sentimentality of it being their last year, while the juniors and sophomores are eager to get outside and enjoy the warm weather. Even the teachers and administrators look forward to vacation.

When the last day of school actually gets here, we usually realize what exactly the year was about. Our feelings toward the past are less sentimental and more realistic. We act and become more independent. We sometimes laugh bitterly when we look back at all those club meetings we had to attend, and all those tests we had to study for. And yet we know that when next fall comes we'll be anxious to go back to school and start all over again.

The process isn't merely a repeated one. There is some carryover; we learned a lot from those club meetings, sports practices, and tests. Someday we may use those skills at a job. Or as Mr. Ehlers once said, "An education keeps you from being frustrated once in a while."

For the purpose of those memories you just can't seem to recall, we will tell you what the year was about.

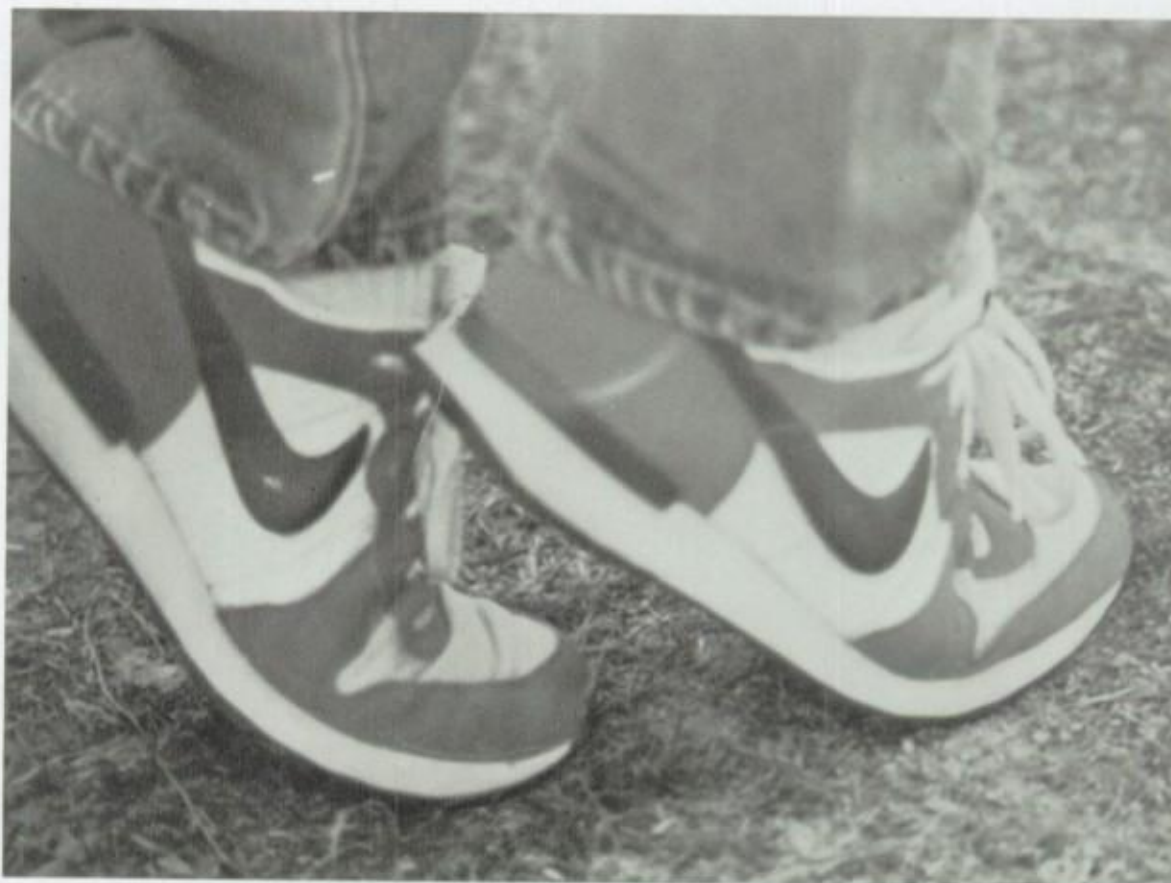

The year started as a hot one; many of the students wore shorts and sandals. The new additions to the school helped to keep things cool though. The voc ag department, wrestlers, and band were given new facilities to work in. The choir made a move to the old band room.

Homecoming was a huge success. The kids really participated and a majority dressed up during homecoming week. Winter came as fast and cold as usual, though. Two days were missed because of bad weather.

In world events, the dominant news stories pertained to El Salvador, Nicaragua, and our peace-keeping force in the Middle East. The surprise invasion of Grenada stunned everyone, but it was soon forgotten. Nuclear war was still a heated issue and we learned of the discontent in Europe over the nuclear capabilities of the superpowers. Politics still ran as usual; the Democrats tried to choose between a total of eight candidates, who would be their presidential nominee. As June approached, three candidates remained in the race — Walter Mondale, Jesse Jackson, and the "dark horse," Gary Hart. President Reagan announced he would run for a second term.

The year was a good one. The seniors provided a lot of leadership for the school. That, and a growing sense of a "change" in the attitude of students was what we called "OFF THE BEATEN TRACK."

Jane, I've known you since Elm. school. I've known you since GREAT Low moon. We've shared a lot of good friends. You are always glad that we're together when I need to talk to someone. I really appreciate it. I owe you so much! Ha. Your last 2 years of school, so make it the best because it goes by fast. Best wishes always!

Jane - Hi! You've been really nice around me ever since we've been to dancing. You should have stayed in it. Stay the way you are and don't back in anything you do!

Friends Always,
Christy

Jane - Hey! Well I got to know you, but this year I can hopefully get a lot of luck always and everything you do! Love Kim

I guess I really got to know you this last year. But it seems like you've been my friend for a long time. We had a great time at musical practice and that really started things off. You're so easy to talk to. I remember discussing my problem of for and form with you and you seem to know me so well like you know exactly what I was thinking. You helped me so much then. Now when you're probably know. We probably come to you again for more help. I hope this year we can do more things together. At least I'll be you in crowd so I can talk to you. I hope you get what you set out for because people like you deserve it. Love, Beth

Jane, We've had a really great time, haven't we? I really hope we get to have many more both this year and after we get out of school. You're quite an actress and I hope we do some more acting together so time goes on. Good luck both now and always. I'm really going to miss you next year. Thanks for everything. See you and stay in touch. Love, Melissa
